Who is it for?

Suitable for all primary and secondary teachers and teaching assistants of all key stages, school governors, LA Advisors, senior management and headteachers

THE PIG OF HAPPINESS

Edward Monkton

"As you know I am a total convert to P4C. The children love it because they feel in control of their own discussions.

It was a bit of a leap for me to step back and let them devise their own questions and not to try to steer how the discussion should go so devil's advocate is a useful tool for me at times! I've really noticed an improvement both in their confidence in discussion and also the quality of their thinking. It's great!"

Veronica Santer, P4C Participant

What is it about?

Philosophy for Children (P4C) is a powerful methodology for developing children's thinking skills and exploring challenging subject matter. It can also improve self-esteem, self-confidence and emotional literacy and create a more caring and cooperative classroom environment, empowering children to take control of their learning.
